Steven Alpert focuses his practice on secured lending, contract law, and corporate compliance. He primarily represents local, regional and national lenders and financial institutions, with an emphasis on those that make, package, and service U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) 7(a) and 504 loans. He values those “feel good moments” when the deal is completed when he knows he’s helped improve someone’s future business.

Prior to joining MPS in 2025, Steven was a principal at a Chicago law firm where he supported two partners in a wide variety of legal issues including corporate governance, commercial and residential real estate, commercial litigation, employment, intellectual property, contracts, and mergers and acquisitions. He is delighted to be at MPS and to focus on banking and finance and corporate law.
